

A greenhouse addition to the back of a former, typical three-flat created a special breakfast area in the kitchen. The curved walls of the formal, circular dining room established in the middle of the house lead logically to the slightly curved fireplace wall in the living room.

